- c) To monitor and oversee implementation of the risk management policy, including evaluating the adequacy of risk management systems;
- d) To periodically review the risk management policy, at least once in two years, including by considering the changing industry dynamics and evolving complexity;
- e) To keep the board of directors informed about the nature and content of its discussions, recommendations and actions to be taken;
- f) Review strategic plans and objectives for adequate consideration of risks.
- g) Review the commonality of a risk culture throughout the company, including common terminology and risk limits.
- h) Satisfy itself that there is an optimal balance struck by management between avoiding risks and exploiting opportunities. In doing so it shall see how management assesses and incorporates risk tolerance in its decisions and plans.
- i) The committee shall be alert to the emergence of new risks and the management's response to them. It shall also review how management has planned to respond to the sudden emergence of unexpected risks and crises.
- j) Review compliance with risk management policies and procedures.
- k) Review annually the risk assessment or exposure of the Company.
- l) The Committee shall review any disclosures of risk in the annual and other public reports and in the financial statements.
- m) Review existential risks and plans for their mitigation.
- n) The Committee shall undertake any other responsibility referred to it by the Board or required by any statutory authority.

For the purpose of the above primary responsibilities, it may:

- a) Review the framework that provides risk information to the CEO and senior management.
- b) Review the process for quantification of risks.
- c) Review if risk management is integrated into all operating processes and employees are clear about their individual responsibilities.
- d) The Committee shall enquire if management has adequately considered the impact of interdependent or interactive risks and of simultaneous black-swan events in its plans and risk management strategy.

3. Resources to the Committee

The Committee shall discharge its oversight responsibilities by considering reports from management and consultants. The Committee shall satisfy itself about the reliability of the reports it depends upon. The Committee may take the assistance of internal audit and other experts to obtain reports on compliance with processes.

The Committee is not expected to itself undertake any audit, evaluation, appraisal, investigation or other similar activities in the discharge of its responsibilities.

4. Management's Responsibilities

Management is solely responsible for the correct reporting of risks and concerns in all public documents or filings with various authorities. Management is also solely responsible for implementing and maintaining reliable systems, processes and controls for ensuring management of risks throughout the enterprise. The Control Self Assurance process is one of the processes by which management obtains assurance of the reliability of risk management controls. It is responsible for prompt awareness of emerging risks and for framing a response to them. Management is expected to ensure appropriate recognition of risks in its strategies, plans and budgets.

Management shall comply with the directions of the Committee.

5. Board of Directors' Responsibilities

The Board is responsible for approving this Charter, for considering the reports and recommendations of the committee to it and for supporting the Committee in its activities. Management has a right to appeal to the Board if it disagrees with any recommendations of the Committee. The Board, after hearing management and considering the views of the Committee, has the power to overrule the Committee's recommendations; in which case the Board shall record its reasons.

6. Coordination with other committees

The Committee shall coordinate with other committees to the extent that its work has a bearing on their scope of work. It shall, in particular, coordinate with the Audit Committee for the segregation of responsibilities. The attachment contains details of such allocation.

The Risk Management and Audit Committees shall jointly determine the annual internal audit work plan.

7. Powers

The Committee shall have the powers to require management to provide it with reports and explanations that are relevant to its objectives. It may also ask for the appointment of experts or auditors.

Management shall implement the Committee's directions.

8. The Committee's Processes

The Committee shall –

- a) appraise its performance annually and report to the Board the outcome thereof.
- b) Meet at least twice in a year and the meetings of the committee shall be conducted in such a manner that on a continuous basis not more than one hundred and eighty days shall elapse between any two consecutive meetings.
- c) The quorum for a meeting shall be either two members or one third of the members of the committee, whichever is higher, including at least one member of the board of directors in attendance.
- d) Review this Charter periodically and recommend any changes to the Board.

9. Member Development

The members of the Committee shall receive exposure to developments in enterprise risk management to enable them to discharge their responsibilities on the Committee. The Committee shall periodically review the process and level of such exposure and make any modifications it deems necessary.
